

John Hancock

The company went public.
The stock went fast.
Guess where their executives went.

They went to Bentley College. On the day John Hancock went public, 17 company executives, 14 of whom are Bentley alumni, were in our on-site Trading Room. They saw quotes and news updates in real time and learned the dangers of day trading from our faculty experts. Advanced technology is integral to John Hancock's successful operation in today's market. You'll find that same state-of-the-art technology at Bentley, where our students are integrating it into their own success. Find out for yourself. Log on or call 1/800/442-4723.
